BATTLE OF THE YEAR THE DREAM TEAM

Columbia Pictures Industries Inc.

Rating: PG-13

Runtime: 110 min

Release Year: 2013

Synopsis:

Battle of the Year is the Olympics of break dancing, a tournament held every year that attracts all the best teams from around the world, but the Americans haven't won in fifteen years. Los Angeles Hip Hop mogul and former B-Boy Dante wants to put the country that started the Sport back on top. He enlists his hard-luck friend Blake to coach his team. Armed with the theory that the right coach can make any team champions, they assemble a Dream Team of all the best b-boys across the country. With only three months until Battle of the Year, Blake has to use every tactic he knows to get twelve talented individuals to come together as a team, if they're going to bring the trophy back to America where it started.

Cast: Josh Holloway, Laz Alonso, Josh Peck, Caity Lotz, Chris Brown, Ivan 'Flipz' Velez
Find Your New Direction

Is your compass missing its direction? Are you aimlessly adrift on the sea that leads to nowhere? Is your vessel in distress? Do you need a life raft to stay afloat? Are your sails tattered and worn? Are these ocean references annoying you yet? Ok, ok, I’ll stop... But seriously, check out this A.I.P. thing!

If you aren’t sure how to sign up for GP Outreach classes, it’s simple! Either sign up when the unit sign up comes around, or send an Inmate Communication form to Mr. Washington asking to be out on the list.

This Is What A GP Committee Member Has To Say:

I am an addict and my name is Zane. I turned 36 years old this last January, and I’ve been actively using drugs since I was 10 years old. It was important to me when I wrote this to make sure that I began it by stating first that I am an addict. It reminds me of where I come from and that I am no better than anyone else here. As well as being an addict, I am also a father, a son, a brother, and a friend. Above all these things though, I am a man in recovery that has been given another chance at life.

My addiction and criminality has plagued me so long that one of the biggest challenges that I have faced in this program is identifying myself as being capable of living responsibly for the rest of my life. Despite having had a few years of recovery the last time I got out of prison, my ability to believe in myself living that way no matter what my life throws at me led to an eventual relapse and imminent return to prison for a third time. It was through this experience that I realized that my addiction never rests, never takes a day off. It has been destroying my life one piece at a time for over two decades, costing me countless relationships, a marriage, my children and my freedom, time and time again.

I don’t have to live that way anymore ever again. Today I am clean. Today I get to choose what I want to do with my life, not let my addiction do it for me. Today I choose to be a part of this therapeutic community because I believe that I have everything to gain by doing so and nothing to lose that I haven’t lost already. Today I am learning new things about myself and through this program I am becoming a part of the solution instead of the problem. Today I know that freedom is a choice, and as long as I choose to keep a positive attitude I will never have to lose my freedom again.
