Help Break the Cycle

New Directions Northwest runs several Drug and Alcohol Programs, including the Elkhorn Adolescent Drug and Alcohol Center (EADAC). EADAC recently started a new program to encourage teamwork and leadership through positive role-modeling. The new program is through the Boy Scouts of America called Venturing, that teaches teamwork and leadership skills through outdoor activities like camping. They have asked for some financial support as it is difficult for them to raise funds. Their funds are already strained by the cost of training materials, uniforms and other activities.

New Directions Submission

Do you want to get a jump start on your future?

Well...come join us at GP Outreach and learn what the AIP can do for you! It's never too late to sign up and never too late to plan for your future.

Here's what a GP Outreach Committee Member has to say:

My name is Dewitt Rhodes I'm 35 years old. I've been involved in a life of drugs and crime since the age of eleven. Things for me were hard considering I moved around a lot. So adjusting to new environments was something I got used to. It all tied into my criminality and drug use, because I knew before too long I'd move to a new place so I would just leave a bad impression and not care.

I joined the AIP program to give myself a chance at finally having some stability. Giving my family the man they deserve. It has been a real eye opening experience by making me identify my thinking and it being the real cause of all things criminal/addict, that I have ever been involved in not my circumstance.

I just want to say if I wouldn't have had this opportunity I would never be able to stop my old ways and habits so in all actuality I'm saying thank you to staff and my peers hopefully my words will inspire the next person to give himself a chance at success.
