PRAS Revisions:

As many of you may remember, the Department has been analyzing the current PRAS system in response to a petition to amend the rule. Thank you for your patience as we looked into this very complex system. We are pleased to announce the first PRAS revision; the elimination of the 120-day evaluation period. By eliminating this waiting period, people arriving into our custody will be eligible to earn daily PRAS points on their first day of a qualifying program assignment and no longer need to wait 120 days to do so. This change will go into effect April 1 2019, and from that time forward the 120-day evaluation period will not be applied. Please note there will be no backdating of points for those impacted prior to April 1, 2019.

Additional positive changes are in store for PRAS, and efforts to automate those changes are underway. We are eager to provide you system improvements and will communicate those changes as they become ready.

Reading a Nutrition Label for Sodium Content

How can I reduce the salt in my diet? READ LABELS! Unfortunately, many items in our commissary are very high in sodium, as they are highly processed and need to be shelf stable. Top Ramen packs a whopping 1800 mg of sodium in one package. That is nearly an adult's recommended daily allowance of 2300 mg! Processed meats such as beef jerky, lunch meats, salted nuts, snack foods, desserts and condiments also contain large amounts of sodium. Dried fruits and unsalted nuts are good choices for snacks without high amounts of sodium.

An easy way to tell if the sodium content is acceptable is to look for food items with the same or less sodium as calories per serving. For example, in this label, you can see that the sodium (160 mg) is less than the calories (230 cal). This product would be a good choice. If it is more, than you should look for something else. The 2015-2020 Dietary guidelines for Americans advise limiting sodium to less than 2300mg per day. DOC is working to reduce the salt in the menus as well.

New Four Year College Degree Program

Oregon Department of Corrections, Corban University and Paid In Full Oregon have partnered to bring a four year Bachelor of Science degree program to the Oregon State Correctional Institution. While the graduates will earn a Bachelor of Science degree, the goal of this program is much larger. It is about transforming lives – by transforming adults in custody into spiritual leaders and then sending those leaders throughout DOC to transform the lives of others.

This program is still in development. This announcement is to provide some basic information regarding the program to interested adults in custody. As the program comes closer to fruition, additional information will be provided to those that are interested and meet minimum qualifications. Twenty five students will be enrolled each year, for a maximum capacity of 100 students.

Corban University is a private religious university in Salem, Oregon. Paid In Full Oregon is a non-profit organization founded with the purpose of partnering with DOC and Corban University “to provide inmates a fully accredited bachelor’s degree; transforming inmates into spiritual leaders and impacting the prison population throughout the State of Oregon.” Paid In Full Oregon is raising all the funds for this program. There will be no cost to students. The minimum requirements, as established to date, include:

- Minimum of eight years left on sentence.
- Non-Cash Incentive Level of 3. Level 2s may be considered with institution review and approval.
- High school diploma or equivalent.
- Appropriate level of CASAS scores as determined by Corban University.
- Successful application which will include reference letters and an essay.
- Agreement to mentor others upon completion of degree. Religious Services staff will provide more information on this.

The goal is to begin this program in September 2019, with the first 25 students. Please do not send kytes to anyone at this time. As more information becomes available and dates are confirmed, we will communicate it to adults in custody.

A. Pinkley-Wernz,
Assistant Superintendent of General Services
Oregon State Correctional Institution
